

Welcome to The Station! Originally built in 1908, our venue fondly inhabits the former South Perth Police Station and Quarters. We invite you to relax, enjoy good company, food and drink, whilst appreciating the true heritage and beauty in the details of the original Federation style building.

The former police station and quarters was built under the direction of Chief Architect, Hillson Beasley. It was the fifth location in South Perth that served as a police station and residence, and provided an upgrade from the previous dwellings in terms of comfort and prime locality to the Mends Street precinct.

On completion, the two-cell station housed the first constable and his family, with all serving policemen initially being expected to work and reside in the the station and quarters. The constable at this time commuted via bicycle, whereas prior to this horseback was most common. The building remained a functioning police station until the last officers vacated in 2002.
